Delivering Professional Communications and Support

Revitalize Your Capabilities with VoIP and Video Conferencing Solutions from OnPar

Challenge

Atlas Financial Partners needed a better way for their employees to communicate and collaborate through a unified and secure system. They were using several vendors to fulfill their needs, and their VoIP and video conferencing provider was not reliable.

Solution

To remedy Atlas' communication shortcomings and system incompatibilities, OnPar helped them take full advantage of the reliability and compatibility that Microsoft technologies provide.

Results

When Atlas Financial Partner's communications solution failed to meet reliability demands and couldn't integrate seamlessly with their existing Microsoft systems, it was time for a change. Once Atlas found OnPar Technologies via a web search, our team of knowledgeable IT consultants were able to port over all their numbers and install their communications needs in Microsoft Teams. Where before it seemed like a selected vendor wasn't confident in the services they were providing, OnPar, powered by Microsoft, was able to provide the one-stop-shop experience Atlas wanted.

Atlas' centralized communications solutions brought them benefits like:

- ⤵ The ability for their team to chat and share content seamlessly in one platform
- ⤵ Hundreds of dollars a month saved compared to the previous comm services
- ⤵ Payroll savings by eliminating the need to recruit, hire and train an in-house IT staff
- ⤵ A very responsive and reliable support team
- ⤵ An overall more enjoyable calling experience
